Russia quiet on humanitarian corridor offer

Agencies
MOSCOW/KYIV

Russia said on Friday that it was battling a new Ukrainian offensive in Kursk even as Kyiv offered a humanitarian corridor for civilians in the Russian region it has invaded and partly occupied. Russian President Vladimir Putin admitted the situation there was "very difficult" as he met with regional governors.

There was no comment on the fresh offensive from officials in Kyiv, and Russian statements on the extent of any fighting could not be verified. Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Thursday praised his troops for the Kursk offensive and said, "The Kursk operation clearly explains the meaning of the principle of 'peace through strength'."

Zelenskyy's office accused Moscow of "indifference" to the fate of its own citizens. "We are ready to open a humanitarian corridor from the Kursk region to the depths of Russia in response to an official request of the Russian Federation. Apparently, the Russians do not want such a humanitarian corridor, because we have not received a corresponding request from them." The Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov claimed Russia was doing "everything" it could for Russian civilians in Kursk; however Moscow refused to comment publicly on the idea of a humanitarian corridor.

H-1B initial regn to begin on March 7: USCIS

Agencies
NEW DELHI

The initial registration period for the H-1B visas, the most sought-after by Indian IT professionals, for fiscal 2026 will commence on March 7 and close on March 24, a federal agency has said. The H-1B visa is a non-immigrant visa that allows US companies to employ foreign workers in speciality occupations that require theoretical or technical expertise.

Technology companies depend on it to hire tens of thousands of employees each year from countries like India and China.

The initial registration period for the most sought-after H-1B visas for foreign guest workers for fiscal 2026 will open at noon Eastern Time (10:30 pm IST) on March 7 and run through noon Eastern Time (10:30 pm IST) on March 24, US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) said on Wednesday.

During this period, prospective petitioners and representatives must use a USCIS online account to register each beneficiary electronically for the selection process and pay the associated registration fee for each beneficiary, it said.

Scheme on Russian oligarchs ends

WASHINGTON

The Trump administration's Justice Department has disbanded a Biden-era programme aimed at seizing the assets of Russian oligarchs as a means to punish Russia for its invasion of Ukraine.

The move to disband Task Force KleptoCapture is one of several moves undertaken by the Justice Department under the new leadership of Attorney General Pam Bondi that pre-empt a different approach toward Russia and national security issues.

The department also ended the Foreign Influence Task Force, which was established in the first Trump administration to police influence campaigns staged by Russia and other nations aimed at sowing discord, undermining democracy and spreading disinformation. The US government in the run-up to the 2024 presidential election aggressively moved to disrupt propaganda campaigns by Russia, which officials have assessed had a preference for Trump. In a memo addressed to all employees Wednesday - the first day of Bondi's tenure - the attorney general's office stated that "attorneys assigned to those initiatives shall return to their prior posts, and resources currently devoted to those efforts shall be committed to the total elimination of Cartels and TCOs" - an acronym for Transnational Criminal Organizations. The Trump administration has made combating the illicit flow of fentanyl into the US a priority. The opioid is blamed for some 70,000 overdose deaths annually. The Justice Department on Wednesday also shifted its approach to enforcement of a World War II-era law known as the Foreign Agents Registration Act, which requires people to disclose to the government when they lobby in the US on behalf of foreign governments - including Russia - or political entities.

Scientists produce 1st kangaroo embryo

Agencies
SYDNEY

Australian scientists have achieved a world first, creating a kangaroo embryo through in vitro fertilization (IVF). This breakthrough offers hope for preserving endangered marsupials as well as improve the genetic diversity of endangered species such as the koala, Tasmanian devil, northern hairy-nosed wombat and Leadbeater's possum, lead researcher Andres Gambini said. Researchers at the University of Queensland successfully fertilized eastern grey kangaroo eggs with sperm using intracytoplasmic sperm injection (ICSI), a technique common in human IVF. While a live birth requires further development, this achievement provides crucial insights into marsupial reproduction. The eastern grey kangaroo, a non-endangered species, was chosen for the experiment.

Gambini emphasized the importance of refining egg and sperm collection and preservation techniques to safeguard the genetic material of these unique animals.
