XI AND KIM STRENGTHEN CHINA-NORTH KOREA TIES

Seoul: Chinese President Xi Jinping and North Korean leader Kim Jong Un pledged deeper cooperation during a closely watched summit on Monday as Xi made a rare visit to Pyongyang in a move seen as an effort to reinforce Beijing's influence over its socialist neighbour.

Xi's visit, his first to North Korea in seven years, began with a lavish on-arrival ceremony at Pyongyang International Airport, where he and wife Peng Liyuan were received by Kim and wife Ri Sol Ju.

Xi later attended a ceremony at the main square, where a military honour guard and thousands of residents, including children carrying balloons, lined the streets. Buildings around the square were adorned with the two countries' flags, giant portraits of Xi and Kim, and banners celebrating bilateral friendship.

During summit talks, Xi expressed China's willingness to expand cooperation in trade, agriculture, construction and technology. He also called for stronger strategic coordination and the protection of both countries' sovereignty and security interests.

Meanwhile, South Korean President Lee Jae Myung said North Korea was producing enough nuclear material each year for 10-20 bombs and was

Xi Jinping, President of China

The unwavering support for the socialist cause of the DPRK led by Kim Jong-un will not change; and the determination to safeguard the common interests and favourable strategic environment of both China and the DPRK will not change.

He said the international community should prioritise persuading Pyongyang to freeze its nuclear materials production and ICBM programme as an immediate goal. —AP

No power, no gas, no sleep: Cuba on edge amid endless outages

Cuba is facing worsening hardship four months into a US oil blockade, with prolonged power cuts, fuel shortages and soaring living costs disrupting daily life.

Residents in Havana report days without electricity, water shortages, sleepless nights and growing public frustration. The state power company is struggling to maintain supply, while sanctions and economic pressure have deepened the crisis. Tourism, energy and other sectors continue to suffer across the nation.

Meanwhile, a ship laden with 1,700 tonnes of food aid collected in Mexico and Belize has docked in Cuba.

Primary election for LA mayor: Kerala-born Nithya in 2nd spot

Washington: Kerala-born Nithya Raman has surged to second place in the primary election for Los Angeles mayor, edging past reality TV star Spencer Pratt. She appears set to take on incumbent Karen Bass in November.

Bass, 72, a former Democratic congresswoman who has already advanced to the November runoff, remained in the lead with 34.7% of the vote, according to an updated tally released by the Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder/County Clerk's Office.

The primary election for the mayor's post took place on Jan 2 and 80% of the ballots have been counted so far. Raman, 44, who has steadily gained ground as the count has progressed, secured 21%, enough to overtake Pratt by a little more than 3,000 votes.

Pratt, a Republican, had been running in second place since election night but slipped to third position with 26.6% of the vote.

Raman has been a Los Angeles councilwoman since 2020, when she defeated incumbent council member David Ryu in a victory described as a political earthquake. She was re-elected in 2024.

A Los Angeles mayoral candidate can win outright by receiving more than 50% of the vote in the primary. Otherwise, the top two finishers, regardless of party, advance to a November runoff in the non-partisan race.

Raman moved to Louisiana from India when she was six. She earned a bachelor's degree in political theory from Harvard University and a master's degree in urban planning from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT).
